ABSTRACT

A statistical summary is provided of finances, admissions, stduents, programs, employees, and libraries of the community colleges of the State University of New York (SUNY). Following a section providing background information on the colleges, SUNY trustees and staff, the Association of Boards of Trustees, the Faculty Council, and regional and professional accreditation, fiscal data are presented, covering operating revenues, expenditures, and fund balances; tuition and fees; cost trends; operating chargeback rates; capital chargeback schedule; and and building replacement costs. The next sections look at 1983 admissions and enrollment by campus, and trends in total enrollment, 1948-1983. Data on student characteristics are presented next, including age, sex, full-/part-time status, geographic origins, and race/ethnicity. Next, information on financial aid recipients is provided, followed by data on the annual average full-time equivalent workload. Tables examining degree and certificate programs as well as contract courses are followed by information on degrees granted, attrition/retention, and transfer students. The final sections provide employee and faculty data, library statistics, and information on SUNY transfer students. (LAL)

Foreword

This Compilation of Statistical Data pulls together a significant collection of facts, figures, trends and information on current activities of the thirty community colleges of the State University of New York. The data is derived from reports received from the colleges by several offices in SUNY Central Administration in Albany. We wish to thank particularly the Office of Institutional Research and Planning and the Office of Finance and Business, which provided most of the material. It is the hope of the Office for Community Colleges that this information will prove useful to educators and other interested people both within and outside of New York State.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Fact Sheet
SUNY Community Colleges

The University includes 30 community colleges, ranging from giants like Nassau and Suffolk, each with over 20,000 students, to smaller colleges, such as Columbia-Greene and North Country, each with over 1000 enrolled. Each college is fully accredited by the Middle States Association.

Students: SUNY community college enrollment has increased by 6% since fall,1980. As of fall, 1983, SUNY community colleges enrolled 184,848 students, of whom 56% were women and 44% men. Full-time enrollment (95,929) slightly exceeded part-time enrollment (88,919). Ninety-eight percent, or 180,708, of those enrolled were New York State residents, and approximately 80% were residents of their college localities. The average age of a full-time SUNY community college student is 25, and the average age for a part-time student is 30. Nearly all students are commuters.

Mission: The colleges provide occupational programs which lead directly to careers and the first two years of baccalaureate education. In addition, there is a heavy emphasis on continuing education for adults and developmental study for students who need it. All SUNY community colleges operate under the Full Opportunity concept which guarantees admission to any high school graduate of the sponsorship area.

Governance: Each college has ten trustees--five appointed by the local sponsor (usually one or more counties), four appointed by the Governor and one elected by the students. The college trustees appoint personnel, adopt the curriculum, prepare the budgets, accept gifts to the college, among other duties. The State University Board of Trustees supervises the colleges, without eroding the local control of the sponsors or the college trustees. The SUNY Trustees provide certain standards and regulations, and approve the establishment of colleges, the academic curricula, tuition and fee schedules, the nominations of presidents and the budgets submitted by the local trustees.

Funding: Support comes from studuent tuition, the State of New York, and the local sponsor. Since 1970, State aid has been allocated according to a stated dollar amount for each student enrolled. This funding formula also allows for "bonuses" to colleges for serving disadvantaged students, students in highly technical and business programs, and the like. The average 1983-84 full-time student tuition rate at the thirty community colleges is $1,031, an increase of $109 or 11.8 percent from the 1982-83 level of $922. Colleges also receive "chargebacks" from other counties based on the number of students served from those counties.

The summary tables for total credit course and new undergraduate students by level, location and region contain three origin concepts which need to be defined. The first of these is COUNTY(S) of LOCATION/SPONSORSHIP. This column represents the number of students that attend the institution (or institutional type) that claim permanent residence in either the county in which the institution is located or in a county that sponsors the institution. For those institutions located in New York City, the five boroughs (Bronx, Kings, New York, Richmond and Queens) were used as the counties of location.

The second new origin concept is LOCATION AND CONTIGUOUS COUNTIES. The data in this column indicate the number of students who claim permanent residence in the New York counties in the immediate area of the county of location or sponsorship. An attached table will specify which counties were included for each institution.

The third origin concept which needs some explanation is REGION OF LOCATION. The regions used were the four New York State Planning Regions. All of the students from counties in the institutions region of location were included in this column.

To further clarify the above concepts, the following table specifies the region, location and contiguous counties that were used for each of the institutions. Note - * indicates county of location/ sponsorship.

Subject: Intra-SUNY Transfer Students from a Community College
by Individual Institution

Enclosed for your information is a new summary of transfer students which is made possible by our Student Data File (SDF) system of enrollment reporting. These arrays display transfers from a State University Community College to the rest of the State University system for those receiving institutions which are operational on the Student Data File System. What sets these reports apart from previous summaries is that it is now possible to identify individual institutions both in terms of sending and receiving institution. These students are also identified by the broad discipline groupings of the programs into which they transferred.

Subsequent reports are also in preparation which will show transfers from a senior State University institution or an Ag & Tech to these same receiving institutions. These will also identify individual institutions and area of program transfer.

If you have any questions about these data, please call me or Dr. Sherwin Iverson of our staff who prepared these reports. (518-473-1830).
